

- "Anyway, that was fun": This is a standard English phrase expressing enjoyment of a past event.
- "God: This word appears in English and suggests a reference to a deity.
- "Friend: Another English word indicating a close relationship.
- "Ok A common English expression of agreement or acceptance.
- "Labeladan: This appears to be a proper noun, possibly a name or place. However, the sources do not offer any information about its meaning.
- "៎": This is a single Khmer character. The sources do not provide a translation for this specific character.
- "mayor: An English word denoting the elected leader of a city or town.
- "reasonable: An English word implying logic or fairness.
- and it is," suggesting agreement or affirmation.
- Kapı" which is Turkish for "door.
- ៖: typically used to represent the sound 'roh' but it doesn't form a word by itself.
- ្ក: the character '្ក' does not exist in the Khmer script, so this combination doesn't form a recognizable Khmer character.
- ្ខ: typically used to represent the sound 'puh' but it doesn't form a word.
- ផ្ក) : this combination of characters doesn't form a standard Khmer word.
- គ:, this character doesn't form a standard Khmer word.
- "ឃ្ល" /"0":
  - ឃ:" typically used to represent the sound 'ngoh' but it doesn't form a word. • ឃ:/ this combination of characters doesn't form a standard Khmer word.
  - 0: this is the independent vowel 'ô'.
  - Khmer consonants. ប: 'b' or 'p', ហ: 'h', វ: 'v', ន: 'n', ឡ: 'l'

